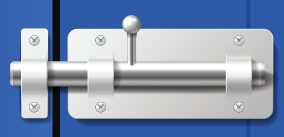
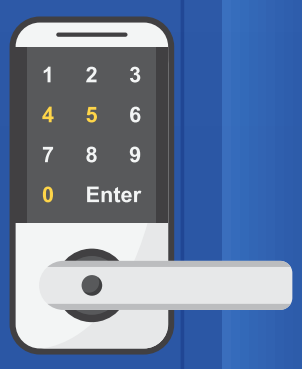
Two Locks Are Better Than One





In today's world you need more than a password to protect your organization and enabling MFA makes you significantly less likely to get hacked. Be sure to enable MFA on all appropriate accounts, especially your email systems, and use authentication apps or hardware tokens for even more added security.